DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, prosecution in this application has been reopened pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 07/31/2003 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 26 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim contains subject matter, which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventors, at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The coding element claimed in claim 26 is new matter because it lacks support in the previously filed specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(f) he did not himself invent the subject matter sought to be patented.

Claims 1-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(f) because the applicant did not invent the claimed subject matter. The invention claimed in this application is fully encompassed by the specification and claims of a previously submitted application, 09/598968.

The specification and claims in application 09/598968 specify a microfluidic chip and a device for receiving the microfluidic chip, supplying it with electrical power, and methods of fluid movement within the chip using a holder for carrying the interface element with a structure enabling the interface element to be releasably connectable to the holder. Similarly, the specification and claims in application 09/595420 specify a microfluidic chip and a device for receiving the microfluidic chip, supplying it with electrical power, and methods of fluid movement within the chip using a holder for carrying the interface element with a structure enabling the interface element to be releasably connectable to the hold.

The device of claims 1-36 are encompassed by the device and improvements of application 09/598968.

Non-statutory Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-36 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-14 and 18-25 of copending Application No. 09/598968.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the device of claims 1-36 are encompassed by the device and improvements of application 09/598968.

The specification and claims in application 09/598968 specify a microfluidic chip and a device for receiving the microfluidic chip, supplying it with electrical power, and methods of fluid movement within the chip using a holder for carrying the interface element with a structure enabling the interface element to be releasably connectable to the holder. Similarly, the specification and claims in application 09/595420 specify a microfluidic chip and a device for receiving the microfluidic chip, supplying it with electrical power, and methods of fluid movement within the chip using a holder for carrying the interface element with a structure enabling the interface element to be releasably connectable to the hold.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use a microchip that corresponds to the holder and is releasably connected so that multiple chips can be used to run multiple assays which would decrease costs and time by reducing cleanup of the apparatus.
